
Describe a trip that you went on by public transportation

You should say:

Where you went

What means of transportation you took

Who you were with

How you felt about the trip

I went to Hong Kong this summer for the first time. I have always wanted to go there some day and finally, I had a chance.

We took the double-decker bus to travel around this city, it was cheap, and we enjoyed a good view of the seaside even from a distance on the upper deck.

I went there with my friends who are very familiar with Hong Kong. They are good guides.

While the bus went through various tourist attractions, we were able to experience the traditional culture and colonial features of Hong Kong with the help of the tour guide's explanation. Because Hong Kong is mountainous and hilly, the bus bumped a lot on the way, but this don't stop us from appreciating the local beauty. The whole trip was very enjoyable. We traveled all over the famous scenic spots by bus. Though we were tired by the end of the day, we felt very satisfied.

Do you prefer public or private transportation? Why?

I will generally choose public transportation. It's very convenient and environmentally friendly. I don't have to worry about where to park my car.

其他观点

normally I take public transportation, but if I need to travel with family or go on a picnic, I would drive, because we can have our own pace and there is also more room for luggage and stuff.

Is it fair to limit the use of private cars?

Yes, it is. Limiting private cars can encourage people use public transportation more, which is probably the best way for reducing traffic congestion.

其他观点

I think so. Limiting the use of private cars can allow the public transportation to benefit more people, and at the same time, ease air pollution.

In what ways can we fix traffic problems?

The government should improve the capacity of the roads and expand the public transportation system. With few cars on wider roads, the traffic condition will be totally different.

其他观点

We should strengthen the traffic control system, such as using smarter traffic lights, to guide the drivers to drive smartly and keep the traffic condition in good order.

What's the most popular means of transportation in your country?

The most popular means of transportation is bus. There are buses in almost all the cities and towns in China. You can go to every corner of the city by bus, so it's very convenient.

其他观点

I think it's the bus. Taking bus is quite cheap in China. Everybody can afford it. And there are complete bus systems in all cities and towns. Many people travel to work or school by bus.

Should governments encourage people to use public transportation?

Yes, of course. Most of the buses and subway trains are powered by electricity now. So, using more public transportation instead of private cars can greatly reduce the burning of fossil fuels, so it's good for environmental protection.

其他观点

Yes, they should. Using public transportation can decrease the use of private cars on the roads. Therefore, it's helpful for solving the current traffic problem.