

Are there many advertisements in your country?

Yes, they are nearly everywhere, such as on TV, on roadside pillars and lamp posts, even when a bus passes by, there is an advertisement on either side of it.

Why do you think there are so many advertisements now?

Ads all aim at improving the sales of the products. The advertisers want to build a good image for their products and attract the potential consumers, and in the end, make profits.

How do you feel about advertisements?

As a matter of fact, I think advertisements can be annoying. For instance, when watching a wonder TV series, suddenly a two-minute commercial breaks in, which really drives me crazy. So, I don't like advertisements.

What are the various places where we see advertisements?

If you watch TV, you see ads all the time. If you are on the bus, you may see ads on the back of the seats. When walking on a busy street, you can always see some people handing out flyers. So, they are everywhere.
