

How often do you buy others gifts?

I buy presents for friends on special occasions, such as on their birthdays or during some festivals.

Why do people send gifts?

I think sending gifts is part of Chinese culture. There is an old saying that goes like little gift, deep goodwill. On the other hand, sending gifts shows that people value the receiver. On the other hand, sending gifts on special occasions shows our respect to our time-honored tradition.

What kinds of gifts are popular in your country?

I think it depends on the occasion. But generally speaking, flowers and tea are quite popular. It's always a good idea to visit someone with a bunch of flower or a nice package of tea.

Do you like to send expensive gifts?

Honestly speaking, I don't like to send expensive gifts. I think a gift is a token of regard. To show your love or care, the price doesn't matter.
