
Describe an indoor or outdoor place where it is easy for you to study

You should say:

Where it is

When you go there

What you study there

Who you go with

Why you would study in this place

There is a café, a short walk from my university. I go there to study. It's a quaint place on the second floor of a small commercial building. I have to climb a set of stairs and it is hidden behind a noodle shop.

I go there when there are too many people in the school library. Sometimes, when I have enough time in between classes. I just hang out at the café.

When I'm there, I do some research to back up the lectures we have in class. I also use the time to review and organize my notes. I drink tea or coffee lattes while I work.

Most of the time, I go to the café alone. My friends come along if they're free.

I study at the café because it's quiet. Not too many people go there. I like going to this café to study because there's free Wi-Fi too. I can listen to music online while I'm studying.

Do you like to learn on your own or with others?

I prefer to learn on my own. This lets me focus better since there isn't anyone around to distract me or interrupt what I'm doing. It feels to me like I get much better results and retain more information this way.

I like learning with others. Not everyone understands things the same way. As such, sharing what I believe I learned with others can make me realize that I might have got it all wrong. They can correct me, which wouldn't be possible if I were alone.

What's the difference between learning face-to-face with teachers and learning by yourself?

In my opinion, learning by myself is the way to go. This lets me go at my own pace. So my progression is more natural. For example, if I'm struggling with a topic, I can take the time to understand it before moving on to something else.

I believe that learning with a teacher is the only true way to learn. With face-to-face communication, it would be easier for the teacher to understand what the real problem is, like I can draw on a piece of paper in front of her. Meanwhile, the teacher can immediately know that I'm confused from my facial expressions.

Do you prefer to study at home or study in other places?

My favorite place to study is at home. I can study while sitting wherever I please, which makes studying more pleasant. It's also more convenient since I can pause to do chores then pick up where I left off.

Studying in other places is what works best for me. For example, the ambient noise of a coffee shop is like a white noise that helps me focus on studying. Sometimes, I can run into fellow students and we can study together.
