

Do you like to see animals in the zoo?

No, I don't fancy that. I feel sorry for them instead. The animals are locked up in a specific area, no freedom, no happiness. What's worse, they will gradually lose their nature, like the ability to hunt. They are deprived of the opportunity to explore the wildness. So, I don't like to see animals in the zoo.

Have you ever had a pet before?

Yes, I once had a puppy, but I didn't buy it. It was found by my mom on the roadside. And at that time, it was very weak. My mom took good care of it. She fed it milk and built a kennel for it. The puppy became alive day by day.

Why do some people keep pets at home?

For various reasons, I think. A lot of them just like animals, little fluffy cats for example, so they keep them at home. While some people think that keeping pets is a way to show off, so they choose rare and expensive kinds, even if they are not fond of them.

What is the most popular animal in China?

Pandas, without a doubt. They are our national treasure. One reason I think is that pandas are on the verge of extinction, so we try our best to rescue and protect them. Another reason is that they are extremely cute. The way they move around and eat makes us laugh. Therefore, we adore pandas.

What kinds of animals do you like?

I'm a girl, so I like the tame and docile ones, like the dogs. They follow my instructions and will not destroy the things at home. Also, I think that to some extent they can understand what people say to them.