

Do parents give children pocket money in China?

Yes, they do. Many parents give money to their children even after they graduate from university. They want to make sure their children don't go hungry. But this is slowly changing as young people become more independent.

Did you save money when you were young?

No. there were so many things that I wanted to buy as a child, like books, snacks, toys and things. So, I spent all my money, which was not much way.

Do you think parents should teach children to save money?

Yes, they should. When children are taught to save money at an early age, they can better manage their money and become financially independent earlier.

Have you ever given money to other children?

Yes, I have. When I was in elementary school, there was a charity activity aimed at helping the poor children. I donated my money along with some old books and clothes.
